IN THE COURT OF SPECIAL APPEALS OF MARYLAND

STATE OF MARYLAND

v.

OFFICER CAESAR GOODSON

Defendant.

...oOOoo...

MOTION FOR INJUNCTION PENDING APPEAL
BY OFFICER WILLIAM PORTER

Comes NOW Witness Officer William G. Porter and hereby moves this Honorable Court, pursuant to Md. Rules § 8-425 for an injunction pending appeal and in support thereof states as follows:

I. RELEVANT FACTS

PROCEDURAL POSTURE

Baltimore City Police Officer William Porter (hereafter "Officer Porter") has been charged with Manslaughter, Second Degree Assault, Reckless Endangerment and Misconduct in Office in Baltimore City Circuit Court Case Number 115141037. The undersigned are counsel for Porter in that case. The charges involve the in-custody death of Freddie Gray on April 12, 2015. There are six officers charged in the death of Mr. Gray: Officer Porter, Officer Caesar Goodson, Sergeant Alicia White, Officer Garrett Miller, Officer Edward Nero and Lieutenant Brian Rice. All were charged, and indicted, on the same day. As one

Judge was assigned to all six (6) cases, initially there was discussion about which case would go first.[1]

On September 15, 2015 the State of Maryland, through Chief Deputy State's Attorney Michael Schatzow wrote to the specially assigned Judge, Judge Barry Williams, and told him that the state would be calling Officer Porter's case first, followed by Goodson, White, Miller, Nero and Rice. Exhibit A. The state's rationale for this was that:

> Defendant Porter is a necessary and material witness in the cases against Defendants Goodson and White, so it is imperative that Porter's trial takes place before their trials. Defendant Porter's counsel has known this since before the grand jury returned indictments in these cases.

Id. The court below granted the state its wish, and Officer Porter proceeded to trial first.

THE TRIAL

Jury selection began in Officer Porter's trial on November 30, 2015. Ultimately, the case mistried on December 16, 2015 as the jury were unable to reach a verdict as to any of the four (4) charges placed against Officer Porter. Following the mistrial, the circuit court set the retrial for June 13, 2016.

During his trial, Officer Porter testified in his defense. During the state's closing argument by Ms Janice Bledsoe, and the rebuttal by Mr. Schatzow, both commented on Officer Porter's credibility, candor and truthfulness. The following are not all of the instances when the state, in effect, called Officer Porter a perjurer, but it sets out specific examples that are germane to the decision this Court must make in relation to this Motion:

1 Initially the state moved to consolidate some trials, but eventually the court below found that six (6) separate trials was appropriate.

The State's Opening Closing Argument

[A] during his testimony at trial Officer Porter stated under oath that he heard Freddie Gray say during his initial arrest that he could not breathe. The state's theory at trial, was that Mr. Gray had said this much later. In her closing Ms. Bledsoe stated that not one of the other witness officers testified that they heard Mr. Gray say during his initial arrest that he could not breathe and went on to assert that "you know why? 'Cause it was never said [during the initial arrest]." TS 9:53:20.[2] Ms. Bledsoe's assertion that it was never said leads to the inexorable conclusion that the state was accusing Officer Porter of perjury.

[B] The reason the state believed that Mr. Gray said he could not breathe much later was because of a report of a Detective Teel, who wrote memorialized a conversation she had with Officer Porter. In arguing that Officer Porter is not to be believed, Ms. Bledsoe stated that "who has the motive to be deceitful? It's not Detective Teel. It's Officer Porter." TS 9:54:07.

[C] Officer Porter testified that when he saw Mr. Gray in the back of the police wagon, at Druid Hill and Dolphin, he helped Mr. Gray (who was on the floor) onto the bench, but that Mr. Gray had power in his legs and bore the weight of his body. In calling Porter a liar, Ms. Bledsoe stated that:

> five times [Officer Porter] was asked about it, not once did he say Freddie Gray assisted himself up on the bench. Five times he used words that indicate he put Freddie Gray on the bench. Not once in any of those five times did he say, "it would be physically impossible for me to do that, I did not just put him up on then bench I couldn't do that," not once, but he told you that from the stand.

TS 9:57:40.

[D] Officer Porter testified that he was aware that arrestees often feign injury in the hopes of avoiding a trip to jail. He testified that the term for it that many officers use is "jailitis." Ms. Bledsoe in her closing said that "this jailitis is a bunch of crap." TS 10:09:02.

[E] Officer Porter testified that, when he saw Freddie Gray at Druid Hill and Dolphin he believed that Mr. Gray was not injured. Officer Porter further stated under oath that if he knew Mr. Gray was injured he would have sought immediate medical attention. Ms. Bledsoe, in labeling Officer Porter a perjuror stated that Porter "knew Gray was hurt badly [at Druid Hill and Dolphin], he knew he wasn't going to be accepted at Central Booking and he did nothing." TS 10:10:10.

[F] Officer Porter testified that when Mr. Gray was loaded in the Wagon at Baker and Mount Streets, he did not know whether Mr. Gray was leg shackled or not. Ms. Bledsoe told the jury "he [Porter] knew Freddie Gray was placed into the wagon with handcuffs, leg shackles on..." TS 10:14:35.

[G] Because of the statements of Officer Porter referenced above, Ms. Bledsoe argued to the jury that "there's only one reasonable conclusion, Officer Porter was not telling the truth about his involvement in this incident." TS 10:15:15.

[H] After pointing out another statement that the state believed was inconsistent, regarding what Officer Porter told a civilian named Brandon Ross, Ms. Bledsoe again stated "the only reasonable conclusion you can come to is that Ofc. Porter is not telling the truth." TS 10:18:27.

[I] Additionally, Ms. Bledsoe argued to the jury that Officer Porter lied under oath when he stated that on April 12, 2015 he was unaware of a General Order numbered 1114. TS 10:27:08.

[J] Officer Porter testified at trial that he believed the wagon was headed to the hospital at one point, with Mr. Gray inside of it. Ms. Bledsoe, at TS 10:39:45, stated that this was false testimony, because Officer Porter was behind the wagon and new it was headed in a different direction.

The State's Rebuttal

[K] Mr. Schatzow told the jury that "now that the defendant is on trial, he comes into court and he has lied to you about what happened." TS 1:01:15.

[L] Less than a minute later, Mr. Schatzow repeated his assertion that "The state proved through the evidence that he [Porter] lied when he spoke to the [investigative] officers and he lied on the witness stand." TS 1:02:09.[3]

[M] Mr. Schatzow stated that one of Porter's lies was "how he tried to pretend in his April 17th statement that he was too far away at stop 2, to know what was going on." TS 1:02:43.

[N] Mr. Schatzow stated that Officer Porter misrepresented what he saw when at Baker and Mount Street, asking the jury "what was he trying to cover up, was he trying to cover up his own knowledge of what had happened there?" TS 1:03:50.

[O] While opining on Officer Porter's credibility generally, Chief Deputy Schatzow stated that "you prove that people aren't telling you the truth by showing inconsistencies in their statements. You prove that the statements are inconsistent with each other. You prove that they're telling something that just is, makes no sense at all." TS 1:04:41.

[P] The state's attribution of perjury to Officer Porter was far from subtle:

> [the state] proved that what he said at stop two was a lie and that this "I can't breath" nonsense that he came up with. You see what he's tried to do in his testimony, every place that he is stuck, every place that he is stuck in his April 17, and every place in his April 15

3 Of course, Mr. Schatzow's assertion that Officer Porter lied to the initial police officers that interviewed him, could lead to additional charges of misconduct in office and obstruction and hindering. See, for example, Cover v. State, 297 Md. 398, 400, 466 A.2d 1276, 1277 (1983) ("[b]oth this Court and the Court of Special Appeals have said that resisting, hindering, or obstructing an officer of the law in the performance of his duties is an offense at common law.") > statement he now comes up with some new explanation for. This business about that at stop 4 Mr. Gray used his own legs to get up. Nonsense. Five, six times on April 17, you'll see "I picked him up and I put him on the bench, I put him on the bench, I put him on the bench". You wont see anything about Freddie Gray using his own muscles, using his own legs.

TS 1:05:54.

[Q] In response to the defense's assertion that Officer Porter's testimony was credible, Mr. Schatzow stated that "[Porter] sits here in the witness stand and he tries to come up with explanations for why he said what he said. But credibility is not an issue in this case, credibility is not an issue, not at all." TS 1:07:21.

[R] While discussing Mr. Porter's contention that Mr. Gray said "I can't breathe" during his initial arrest, Mr. Schatzow tells the jury that the other witnesses "don't say that because it didn't happen, because it didn't happen." TS 1:08:10. If it did not happen then Officer Porter is being directly accused of perjury.

[S] Mr. Schatzow told the jury "this is what you were told, 'you have no reason to not believe defendant Porter.' I have already given you a bunch of reasons, you've heard reason. But the biggest reason of all is he's got something at stake here ladies and gentlemen, he's got motive to lie." TS 1:12:12.

[T] In accusing Officer Porter of lying when he said that he had very little conversation with Officer Goodson at Dolphin and Druid Hill, Mr. Schatzow stated that:

> But that's like the [Baker and Mount] thing where, he can't identify his own shift commander that's sitting right in front of his face, that's not a cover up, that's not trying to hide the truth, that's not trying to throw the investigators off. Naw, Naw that's not what that is.

TS 1:15:33.

The Subpoena

During Officer Porter's trial, he was handed a subpoena to testify in the trials of both Goodson (case number 115141032) and White (115141036). Exhibit B.

The Federal Investigation

Counsel have spoken with the members of the Civil Rights Division of the United States Attorney's Office that are investigating the in-custody death of Mr. Gray. As recently as October 22, 2015, the undersigned corresponded with the United States Attorneys involved in the investigation. It is standard practice for the Department of Justice not to be involved prior to the conclusion of the state prosecutions.

Counsel have had a similar experience with the witnesses. In meeting with one witness, that was called at Officer Porter's trial, the undersigned asked him a question and the response received was "the FBI also asked me that question." As such, there is an ongoing, verifiable, Federal investigation into the conduct of Officer Porter and others with regard to the death of Freddie Gray and, at this time, it is impossible to predict whether this will result in charges in United States District Court.

Significantly: when Officer Porter testified at his trial the undersigned observed at least three (3) current members of the United States Attorney's Office for the District of Maryland in attendance, including the United States Attorney himself. It is therefore, surely, undeniable that Officer Porter remains in the sights of the United States.

The Hearing before the Honorable Judge Barry G. Williams

The Circuit Court held a hearing on this matter on January 6, 2016. The state filed a motion in open court on that date, asking that, pursuant to § 9-123 of the Courts and Judicial Proceedings Article, that Porter be compelled to testify under a grant of immunity in the trial of Officer Caesar Goodson. Exhibit C.

Porter filed a lengthy motion of why he could not be compelled to testify, much of which is repeated herein. A transcript of the hearing has yet to be prepared, but Porter attaches the Circuit Court DVD of the hearing as Exhibit D.[4]

Porter was called at the hearing and asserted his right to remain silent under State and Federal Constitutions. The court ruled that Porter could be compelled to testify, under grant of use and derivative use immunity, and issued an Order to that effect. Exhibit G. What makes this motion time sensitive is that the Goodson trial is due to begin with jury selection on January 11, 2016. While it is not part of the record below, the state has orally informed the undersigned that they expect Porter to testify on January 14 or 15, 2016. As such, in less than a week, it is likely that jeopardy will have attached and one or more of the parties may have promised the jury that they will hear from Porter during the trial.

Officer Porter has concomitantly with this filing sought an injunction in the Circuit Court, pursuant to Md. Rules § 8-425(b). Exhibit E. In all candor: the Circuit Court indicated in open court that it was likely to deny said request upon receipt, so this request is unlikely to glean a delay of the circuit court's order.

II. RELIEF SOUGHT

Officer Porter seeks that this Court stay the ruling of the Circuit Court that he be required to testify under grant of immunity, for the reasons outlined below. Md. Rules § 8-425. Porter has filed a Notice of Appeal in the court below. Exhibit F. Said stay will allow this Court to provide appellate guidance on an issue that has none, in a case of national and international importance.

III. PORTER CAN PROPERLY APPEAL THIS MATTER UNDER THE COLLATERAL ORDER DOCTRINE

"Appellate practice in this State has long been governed by a legislative scheme which, for the most part, permits appeals in civil and criminal proceedings only from final judgments." Pulley v. State, 287 Md. 406, 414 (1980). "In a criminal case, no final judgment exists until after conviction and sentence has been determined, or, in other words, when only the execution of the judgment remains." Stephens v. State, 420 Md. 495, 502 (2011) (internal quotations omitted) (internal citations omitted). Section 12-301 of Maryland's Courts and Judicial Proceedings article provides, > [e]xcept as provided in § 12-302 of the subtitle, a party may appeal from a final judgment entered in a civil or criminal case by a circuit court. The right of appeal exists from a final judgment entered by a court in the exercise of original, special, limited, statutory jurisdiction, unless in a particular case the right of appeal is expressly denied by law. In a criminal case, the defendant may appeal even though imposition or execution of sentence has been suspended. In a civil case, a plaintiff who has accepted a remittitur may cross-appeal from the final judgment.

MD. CODE ANN. CRTS & JUD. PROC. § 12-301.

This Court of Appeals has previously recognized that, > we have made clear that the right to seek appellate review of a trial court's ruling ordinarily must await the entry of a final judgment that disposes of all claims against all parties, and that there are only three exceptions to that final judgment requirement: appeals from interlocutory orders specifically allowed by statute; immediate appeals permitted under Maryland Rule 2-602; and appeals form interlocutory rulings allowed under the common law collateral order doctrine.

Salvagno v. Frew, 388 Md. 605, 615 (2005).

"The collateral order doctrine ... permits the prosecution of an appeal from a narrow class of orders, referred to as collateral orders, which are offshoots of the principal litigation in which they are issued and which are immediately appealable as final judgments without regard to the posture of the case." Addison v. State, 173 Md. App. 138, 153 (2005) (internal citations omitted) (internal quotations omitted).

To fall within the collateral order doctrine, four requirements must be satisfied. Id. at 154. The four requirements are "(1) it must conclusively determine the disputed question; (2) it must resolve an important issue; (3) it must be completely separate from the merits of the action; and (4) it must be effectively unreviewable on appeal from a final judgment." Id. "In Maryland, the four requirements of the collateral order doctrine are very strictly applied, and appeals under the doctrine may be entertained only in extraordinary circumstances." Id. (internal quotations omitted). "The four requirements are conjunctive in nature and each must be satisfied in order for a prejudgment order to constitute a collateral order." Stephens, 420 Md. at 502-03 (quoting In re Franklin P., 366 Md. 306, 327 (2001)).

When a defendant has been denied an absolute constitutional right, a denial of that right may be immediately appealable. Kable v. State, 17 Md. App. 16, 28 (1973). For example, an interlocutory appeal from the denial of a motion to dismiss based on double jeopardy is permitted because of the "serious risk of irreparable loss of the claimed right if appellate review is deferred." Stephens, 420 Md. at 505-06. The "decision that an accused is incompetent to stand trial" also falls within the class of orders immediately appealable because after trial "will be too late effectively to review the present order, and the rights conferred by the constitution(s) will have been lost, probably irreparably." Adams v. State, 204 Md. App. 418, 432 (2012). Immunity is a right that fits within the requirements of the collateral order doctrine permitting an interlocutory appeal when that right is infringed by a trial court. See Milburn v. Milburn, 142 Md. App. 518 (2002). An order to disclose documents that are subject to attorney-client privilege and the attorney work product doctrine is also immediately appealable under the collateral order doctrine because reversal after disclosure "cannot undo what will have already taken place: the disclosure of the documents" subject to the privilege. Ashcraft & Gerel v. Shaw, 126 Md. App. 325, 345 (1999). Likewise, returning documents from a grand jury was appealable as "there was nothing more to be done." In re Special Investigation No. 236, 295 Md. 573, 575 (1983).

Similarly, the Court of Appeals does "not believe in this day and age a person should be obliged to decide whether he should risk contempt in order to test the validity of a subpoena..." In re Special Investigation No. 244, 296 Md. 80, 86, 459 A.2d 1111, 1114 (1983). The Court of Appeals reasoning in St. Joseph Med. Ctr., Inc. v. Cardiac Surgery Associates, P.A., 392 Md. 75, 88, 896 A.2d 304, 312 (2006) is equally applicable here:

> Although the discovery order was interlocutory with regard to the underlying unfair competition litigation and the parties to that case, the order was not interlocutory with regard to St. Joseph. St. Joseph is not a party to the unfair competition case and would have no standing to challenge the discovery order by appealing from a final judgment in that case.

Id. Replace the word "St. Joseph" with Porter and "unfair competition" with Goodson trial, and you have the issue herein.

Considering each of the four (4) factors in turn:

(1) it must conclusively determine the disputed question. For the reasons outlined below, Officer Porter submits that the state cannot call him as a witness in the Goodson trial without infringeing his rights under State and Federal Constitutions,

(2) it must resolve an important issue. A violation of Porter's Fifth Amendment Rights and Article 22 ones is crucially important, as is the right to a fair trial. This issue potentially affects every case in Maryland from this point forward where two people are charged with the same crime, and their cases are severed. That has to occur literally thousands of time a year. It is important. At the hearing in the circuit court on this matter, all the parties agreed that there is no appellate guidance in Maryland on this issue. It scarcely goes without saying that this case is garnering international attention.

(3) it must be completely separate from the merits of the action. The Motion to Compel was filed in Officer Caesar Goodson's case. That case involves murder charges against Officer Goodson; the undersigned are not counsel for Goodson. Porter's right not to incriminate himself is separate and distinct from Goodson's trial.

(4) it must be effectively unreviewable on appeal from a final judgment. At the hearing in the Circuit Court the parties and the court agreed that Goodson did not have standing to challenge the state's subpoena and motion to compel filed to procure the testimony of Porter. Thus, it cannot and will not be in any way reviewed on appeal.

For these reasons, Porter may properly challenge his subpoena and order to be a compelled witness now.

IV. REASONS WHY, FOLLOWING BRIEFING AND ARGUMENT, THIS COURT WILL FIND THE CIRCUIT COURT'S RULING THAT PORTER CAN BE COMPELLED TO TESTIFY ERRONEOUS

(a) Statutory law

The immunity statute in question reads, in relevant part, as follows:

> (b)(1) If a witness refuses, on the basis of the privilege against self-incrimination, to testify or provide other information in a criminal prosecution or a proceeding before a grand jury of the State, and the court issues an order to testify or provide other information under subsection (c) of this section, the witness may not refuse to comply with the order on the basis of the privilege against self-incrimination.
> (2) No testimony or other information compelled under the order, and no information directly or indirectly derived from the testimony or other information, may be used against the witness in any criminal case, except in a prosecution for perjury, obstruction of justice, or otherwise failing to comply with the order.
> (c)(1) If an individual has been, or may be, called to testify or provide other information in a criminal prosecution or a proceeding before a grand jury of the State, the court in which the proceeding is or may be held shall issue, on the request of the prosecutor made in accordance with subsection (d) of this section, an order requiring the individual to give testimony or provide other information which the individual has refused to give or provide on the basis of the individual's privilege against self-incrimination.
> (2) The order shall have the effect provided under subsection (b) of this section.
> (d) If a prosecutor seeks to compel an individual to testify or provide other information, the prosecutor shall request, by written motion, the court to issue an order under subsection (c) of this section when the prosecutor determines that:

(1) The testimony or other information from the individual may be necessary to the public interest; and

(2) The individual has refused or is likely to refuse to testify or provide other information on the basis of the individual's privilege against self-incrimination.

Md. Code § 9-123. The circuit court has ruled that, under the grant of immunity conferred on by this section, Officer Porter will have no Fifth Amendment Privilege, and will have to answer the questions, under penalty of contempt.

Porter has not been given transactional immunity. The state fully intends to go forward with Officer Porter's retrial on June 13, 2016 - - but in the interim seeks to compel him as a witness in their cases against Officer Goodson and Sergeant White.

V. PORTER CANNOT BE COMPELLED TO TESTIFY

(a) Summary of the argument

The Fifth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution declares in part that "No person ... shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself." U.S. Const., 5th Amend. The Fifth Amendment creates a privilege against compelled disclosures that could implicate a witness in criminal activity and thus subject him or her to criminal prosecution. Hoffman v. United States, 341 US 479, 486-488, 71 S.Ct. 814, 818-819 (1951). The privilege against self-incrimination is a constitutionally-based privilege—not an evidentiary privilege.

To be clear: Porter is not saying that § 9-123 is unconstitutional: he is saying that it is unconstitutional as applied to this witness in this setting.

While Porter has many valid reasons as to why he cannot be compelled to testify, the overarching principle is that the judicial system is built on trust and respect of the public and relies on that trust and respect for effectiveness. "It is of fundamental importance that justice should not only, but should manifestly and undoubtedly be seen to be done." Rex v. Sussex Justices, 1 K.B. 256, 259 (1924). Similarly, the United States Supreme Court has said that trials themselves are "a reflection of the notion, deeply rooted in the common law, that 'justice must satisfy the appearances of justice,'" Levine v. United States, 362 U.S. 610, 616 (1960) (quoted source omitted), and that the perception of fairness of trials and judicial acts is essential to the effectiveness of the system itself. See Richmond Newspapers, Inc. v. Virginia, 448 U.S. 555 (1980) (Brennan, J., concurring). Frankly, calling Porter as a witness in two (2) trials, about the same matters upon which he faces a pending manslaughter trial, wreaks of improriety.

On a related point: on September 15, 2015 the state told the that it was "imperative" that Porter be tried first. Implicitly, maybe even explicitly, the state acknowledged in this pleading that Porter had to go first in order that he not have a Fifth Amendment Privilege. If the state truly believes that Porter can be called as a witness, with a pending manslaughter charge, why was it "imperative" that Officer Porter go first?

Co-defendants trials are severed every day in Maryland. And yet there is not a single reported case of one co-defendant being compelled to testify against the other in the way the circuit court envisages happening here. There is a reason for that: it effectively renders the Fifth Amendment all but meaningless.

(b) The grant of immunity by the Circuit Court will not put Officer Porter in the same position

In a reply to Porter's Motion to Quash yesterday the state informed the court below that:

> the State has no inentions of calling Officer Porter to the stand in Goodson and then pretending that what the prosecutors called a lie in Porter's trial is now the truth in Goodson's trial. If Officer Porter testifies in Goodson consistently with his testimony in his own case, he may rest assured that prosecutors will be consistent with their evaluation of his testimony.

Id. Thus, the state continues to believe that Porter committed perjury as they used the word "lie," and there is certainly no question that where the state parted ways with Porter was material.

A grant of immunity must provide a protection coextensive with the Fifth Amendment, as required by Kastigar. The State attempted to impeach Officer Porter during his mistrial, and to do so, the State presented a theory during Officer Porter's trial which alleged that Officer Porter lied and attempted to cover up facts when giving a statement to police officers, and when taking the stand in his own defense. Effectively, the State wishes to compel Porter, through the farce of a grant of immunity, to lay a foundation for evidence that the State has deemed as constituting an obstruction of justice and perjury.

Perjury, of course, has no statute of limitations. Md. Crim. Code § 9-101(d). So Officer Porter can be charged with it as and when the state chooses to. It is also important to note that Md. Crim. Code § 9-101(c)(1) states that if a defendant gives two contradictory statements, the state does not have to prove which is false, it is enough that both statements under oath cannot be true. As such, if Officer Porter were to testify in Officer Goodson or Sergeant White's trial (or both) something that the state believes is inconsistent with his trial testimony, the state would not have to prove which is false, and all the immunity the state could confer would be rendered meaningless.

Further: a defendant, of course, always has a right to testify in his defense. At the bench during Officer Porter's trial the circuit court went to great lengths to inform Officer Porter of his absolute right to testify and the corresponding right to remain silent. That said "a person convicted of perjury may not testify." Md. Code 9-104. As such, calling Officer Porter as a witness in the Goodson/White trials may result in him being stripped of his ability to testify at his own trial. Again, all the immunity in the world can do nothing to alleviate this concern.

MD. CODE, CTS. & JUD. PROC. § 9-123, "Privilege against self-incrimination provides:

> State, and the court issues an order to testify or provide other information under subsection (c) of this section, the witness may not refuse to comply with the order on the basis of the privilege against self-incrimination.
> (2) No testimony or other information compelled under the order, and no information directly or indirectly derived from the testimony or other information, may be used against the witness in any criminal case, except in a prosecution for perjury, obstruction of justice, or otherwise failing to comply with the order.

(Emphasis supplied). In addition, the Supreme Court ruled in Kastigar that a witness may be compelled to testify when given use and derivative use immunity, if after the immunity is granted, the immunity leaves the witness in the same position, as if the witness had simply claimed the privilege. Kastigar v. United States, 406 U.S. 441 (1972); see also Murphy v. Waterfront Comm'n of New York Harbor, 378 U.S. 52, 79 (1964) abrogated by United States v. Balsys, 524 U.S. 666 (1998). Thus, the Maryland statute and Kastigar are directly inapposite to the State's theory that Officer Porter committed an obstruction of justice during his taped statement and Officer Porter committed perjury when he took the stand in his defense at trial.

Courts have agreed, that "[t]he exception in the immunity statute allows the use of immunized testimony only in prosecutions for future perjury, future false statements, and future failure to comply with the immunity order, not for past acts." Matter of Grand Jury Proceedings of Aug., 1984, 757 F.2d 108 (7th Cir. 1984). Truthful testimony under a grant of immunity may not be used to prosecute the witness for false statements made earlier. In re Grand Jury

Proceedings, 819 F.2d 981 (11th Cir. 1987). Thus, based on the State's blatant impeachment of Officer Porter during his trial, the State is effectively presented with a Hobson's choice. The State either has to retract their previous theory, and admit that Officer Porter was truthful (the state has indicated this will not happen), or the State has to recognize that the grant of immunity would be a farce – that is, the State's grant of immunity would be coaxing Officer Porter into committing what the State believes is perjury and an obstruction of justice, both of which are crimes that falls outside the scope of immunity granted in the immunity statute. MD. CODE, CTS. & JUD. PROC. § 9-123. Such a farcical grant of immunity would fly in the face of Kastigar's holding that a witness may be compelled to testify when given use and derivative use immunity, if after the immunity is granted, the immunity leaves the witness in the same position, as if the witness had simply claimed the privilege. 406 U.S. 441.

An analogous scenario is found in United States v. Kim, 471 F. Supp. 467 (D.D.C. 1979). Kim held that when a defendant was found to have given a perjurious response to a congressional committee's question, and then that same defendant is granted use and derivative use immunity to answer the same question, such a grant was not coextensive with scope of privilege that must be provided under Kastigar, as it could have resulted in the infliction of criminal penalties. U.S. v. Kim is similar to Officer Porter's scenario in that the prosecution cannot first allege that Porter has provided perjured testimony/committed obstructions of justice, and then thereafter grant immunity to suborn the very same testimony that was allegedly perjured. To summarize: "[i]t is well-established in federal courts that the privilege against self-incrimination can properly be invoked based on fear of a perjury prosecution arising out of conflict between statements sought to be compelled and prior sworn testimony." Johnson v. Fabian, 735 N.W.2d 295, 310-11 (Minn. 2007) (citing other cases).

Further: each additional statement by Officer Porter would be live tweeted and reported upon, resulting in an inability to receive a fair trial. Notably, this is a matter in which 100% of the jury panel was aware of the case. Likely the same percentage of a new panel would have at least some knowledge of preceding case(s). If Officer Goodson or Sergeant White were to be acquitted it is all but inevitable that jurors would conclude that Porter - - the star witness - - was not credible. If convicted, the jurors will assume that Officer Porter has knowledge of inculpatory acts that he has now revealed when granted immunity. Commentators will likely opine as to this regardless of the outcome of each trial.

Officer Porter's statement at his trial was unquestionably voluntary, and his statements to law enforcement were found by the circuit court to be voluntary. Contrarily, Officer Porter's potential statements in Officer Goodson's trial and Sgt. White's trial would not be. Officer Porter would thereby be subjected to jurors with some knowledge of the substance of his compelled statements. Parsing out whether a juror's knowledge of Officer Porter's previous testimony was from the initial voluntary statements, or the later compelled statements would not be possible in voir dire. A mini-Kastigar hearing would be required for each juror.[5]

Moreover, in Officer Porter's trial, and any retrial, the witness were and can be sequestered. The reason for this is obvious, that each witness should testify about his or her recollection, untainted by what every other witness said. And while a trial court can compel witnesses at Officer Porter's trial from learning what the other witnesses have testified to, it can scarcely prohibit people from following accounts of Officer Porter's testimony in the Goodson and White trials.

From a public policy standpoint: why wouldn't a prosecutor do it in every case? It is all too common that more than one person is charged with any given homicide. Because of a host of reasons, the cases are often severed or not joined. Why would an enterprising prosecutor not say "you know what, Defendant B may testify in his trial. So I'll give him immunity and call him as a witness in Defendant A's trial. I'll see how he responds to questions, get an advance preview of what he's going to say, get a feel for how to cross him, whether to offer him a plea, sure I can't use what he says, but they can't make me forget it, there's no prohibition against me getting a transcript, no brainer, right?" This is exactly the kind of harm the Eighth Circuit saw, when holding that "[s]uch use could conceivably include assistance in focusing the investigation, deciding to initiate prosecution, refusing to plea-bargain, interpreting evidence, planning cross-examination, and otherwise generally planning trial strategy." United States v. McDaniel, 482 F.2d 305, 311 (8th Cir. 1973).

A later Kastigar will be insufficient to remedy Officer Porter's testimony at two trials. As Officer Porter has "not yet delivered the...material, and he consistently and vigorously asserted his privilege. Here the 'cat' was not yet 'out of the bag' and reliance upon a later objection or motion to suppress would 'let the cat out' with no assurance whatever of putting it back." Maness v. Meyers, 419 U.S. 449, 463, 95 S. Ct. 584, 593, 42 L. Ed. 2D 574 (1975).

"[E]ven if the sole purpose in calling a witness is other than subterfuge, the questioning by a party of its own witness concerning an "independent area of inquiry" intended to open the door for impeachment and introduction of a prior inconsistent statement could be found improper." Walker v. State, 373 Md. 360, 386, 818 A.2d 1078, 1093 (2003)

Mr. Schatzow will surely not ask Officer Porter the same questions six months later as he did the first go around. Even if he did, it is inconceivable that Officer Porter will answer them the same way. All good cross examination is palimpsest, it builds on what you already know. To allow the state to have two (2) more runs at Officer Porter, prior to his retrial, is anathema to our notions of the right to remain silent. It is the same trial team for all six (6) cases.

The Maryland statute on immunity states that "if a witness refuses...the witness may not refuse to comply...may be used against the witness...if a witness refuses to comply..." Id. (emphasis supplied). The statute is designed for people without skin in the game: witnesses. Not Officer Porter.

To be sure: there are ways of compelling someone that the state believes to be less culpable in a criminal act to testify at the other's trial. People v. Brunner, 32 Cal. App. 3d 908, 911, 108 Cal. Rptr. 501 (CA Ct. App. 1973). California sensibly holds that:

> where, as here, the defendant properly invokes the privilege against self-incrimination in a felony proceeding and is compelled by invocation of [the California Immunity Statute] to testify to matters which tend to incriminate him as to presently charged offenses, he may not be prosecuted for them, notwithstanding that his testimony is not used against him.

People v. Campbell, 137 Cal. App. 3d 867, 187 Cal. Rptr. 340 (CA Ct. App. 1982).[6] Accord People v. Matz, 68 Cal. App. 4th 1216, 80 Cal. Rptr. 2D 872, 875 (1998).

(c) Porter has not been immunized federally

As this Court is no doubt aware an:

> assistant United States attorney testified that she too was authorized to grant [a witness] immunity from any federal prosecution within the...District [that that Federal prosecutor practices in] based upon his testimony or the fruits thereof. She also indicated that the immunity she was offering was not immunity under the federal 6 Again, California holds that, under its statute "The measure of what incriminates defines the offenses immunized. Thus, the inference ("link") from compelled testimony to implicated offense serves to identify and hence define the offense immunized from prosecution." People v. Campbell, 137 Cal. App. 3d 867, 874, 187 Cal. Rptr. 340 (CA Ct. App. 1982) (emphasis in the original).

> immunity statute, 18 U.S.C. §§ 6001–03 (1982), which requires federal judicial approval, but rather immunity granted solely under the authority of her office and without the approval of a federal judge.

State ex rel. Munn v. McKelvey, 733 S.W.2d 765, 767 (Mo. 1987). Of course, Federal prosecutors and Judges also have the abiltiy pursuant to 18 U.S.C. §§ 6001–03 to grant a more formal immunity.

Neither such Orders have been provided in this case. And that notwithstanding, as stated earlier, that the United States Department of Justice is very much aware and monitoring all that is going on in the case at bar.

When the United States Government becomes aware of immunized testimony it typically develops a "taint" team.[7] That has not happened here nor, even when the circuit court suggested its prudence, has the state shown any inkling of doing so. The same prosecutors that presented the case to the grand jury, participated in pretrial hearings, and tried Officer Porter's case are now seeking to compel his testimony in the trials of two others, and will be counsel of record when Porter round 2 commences. No walls will be erected around this testimony, the spill over effect will be instantaneous and indellible. For that reason alone this Court must disallow the calling of Officer Porter as a witness.

(d) The state would be suborning perjury

Firstly, Maryland does not allow for a prosecutor or a court to immunize perjury. Which makes sense from a societal standpoint: 'here's your immunity, now go say whatever you want' is scarcely in the public interest. So, the circuit court's grant of immunity will have no effect on the ability of the State of Maryland to charge Officer Porter with perjury later.

7 Sometimes the respective teams are called "clean" and "dirty."

If Officer Porter is compelled to testify at Goodson trial, and were to testify differently from his own trial: it is surely axiomatic that he would have committed perjury during at least one of the trials. However, even if he testifies consistently with his previous trial: as narrated above the prosecution already believes he has committed multiple instances of perjury. And, as detailed below, what is of crucial importance is what they, the state, believe.

The state's commenting on Officer Porter's testimony would be admissible in Goodson and White's trial as an admission of a party oponent. See, for example, Wisconsin v. Cardenas-Hernandez, 219 Wis. 2d 516, 529, 579 N.W.2d 678, 684 (1998) (collecting cases).

The harm to due process

The relevant law governing a prosecutor's use of perjured testimony is set forth in Napue v. Illinois (1959):

> [I]t is established that a conviction obtained through use of false evidence, known to be such by representatives of the State, must fall under the Fourteenth Amendment. The same result obtains when the State, although not soliciting false evidence, allows it to go uncorrected when it appears.
> The principle that a State may not knowingly use false evidence, including false testimony, to obtain a tainted conviction, implicit in any concept of ordered liberty, does not cease to apply merely > because the false testimony goes only to the credibility of the witness. The jury's estimate of the truthfulness and reliability of a given witness may well be determinative of guilt or innocence, and it is upon such subtle factors as the possible interest of the witness in testifying falsely that a defendant's life or liberty may depend.

360 U.S. 264, 269 (citations omitted.) Accordingly, State v. Yates, decided by the Supreme Court of New Hampshire, presents a legal scenario that is analogous to that of the instant matter. 629 A.2d 807, 809 (1993). In Yates, the prosecutor reasonably believed that a witness presented false testimony when the witness denied any involvement in illicit drugs, and that witness' false testimony was integral to the conviction of the defendant. Id. The defendant's "entire defense depended on the premise that [the witness] owed [the defendant] money from a cocaine sale." Id. The prosecutor knew before trial that the witness had recently been indicted for drug possession, yet, the prosecutor failed to correct the witness' statement when the witness denied any involvement in illicit drugs.

Importantly, the Yates court stated that one does not need to prove that the prosecutor had actual knowledge of the uncorrected false testimony; one "need only show that the prosecutor believed [the witness'] testimony was probably false." See May v. Collins, 955 F.2d 299, 315 (5th Cir.), cert. denied, 504 U.S. 901 (1992); United States v. Mills, 704 F.2d 1553, 1565 (11th Cir. 1983), cert. Denied, 467 U.S. 1243 (1984); cf. Giglio v. United States, 405 U.S. 150, 154 (1972) (knowledge of one attorney in prosecutor's office attributed to other attorneys in office). The Supreme Court of New Hampshire ultimately held that a lawyer's duty of candor to the tribunal "is neglected when the prosecutor's office relies on a witness's denial of certain conduct in one case after obtaining an indictment charging the witness with the same conduct in another case." Yates, 629 A.2d at 809.[8] For the prosecution to offer testimony into evidence, knowing it or believing it to be false is a violation of the defendant's due process rights. Mills, 704 F.2d at 1565 citing United States v. Sutherland, 656 F.2d 1181, 1203 (5th Cir.), cert. denied, 455 U.S. 949 (1981); United States v. Brown, 634 F.2d 819, 827 (5th Cir. 1981). As noted by the District of Columbia Court of Appeals, "the nondisclosure of false testimony need not be willful on the part of the prosecutor to result in sanctions." Hawthorne v. United States, 504 A.2d 580, 591 n. 26 (D.C. 1986) citing Giglio v. United States, 405 U.S. at 154.

So while Officer Porter one "need only show that the prosecutor believed [the witness'] testimony was probably false," he need go no further than the 8 The parallel rule in Maryland is Maryland Rule 16-812, Maryland Rule of Professional Conduct 3.3 "Candor Toward the Tribunal," which provides:

(a) A lawyer shall not knowingly:

(1) make a false statement of fact or law to a tribunal or fail to correct a false statement of material fact or law previously made to the tribunal by the lawyer;

(2) fail to disclose a material fact to a tribunal when disclosure is necessary to avoid assisting a criminal or fraudulent act by the client;

(4) offer evidence that the lawyer knows to be false. If a lawyer has offered material evidence and comes to know of its falsity, the lawyer shall take reasonable remedial measures.

factual summary above to evince that both Ms. Bledsoe and Mr. Schatzow stated unambiguously that what Officer Porter said was demonstrably false.

There is no way around this

It is of no moment if the state makes claims that Officer Porter is very unlikely to be prosecuted for any statement he might make at the White / Goodson trials. That is because:

> We find no justification for limiting the historic protections of the Fifth Amendment by creating an exception to the general rule which would nullify the privilege whenever it appears that the government would not undertake to prosecute. Such a rule would require the trial court, in each case, to assess the practical possibility that prosecution would result from incriminatory answers. Such assessment is impossible to make because it depends on the discretion

United States v. Miranti, 253 F.2d 135, 139 (2nd Cir.1958) (cited with approval in Choi v. State, 316 Md. 529, 539 (1989).

Even if (which they cannot) the state could somehow confine their direct questioning to areas in which they have never levied a perjury accusation against Officer Porter, this would still not solve the issue.

This is because "a judge must allow a defendant wide latitude to cross-examine a witness as to bias or prejudices." Smallwood v. State, 320 Md. 300, 307-08, 577 A.2d 356, 359 (1990). Accordingly, whatever narrow focus the state may decide to employ in an attempt to cure the unconstitutional ill set out herein, nothing would bind counsel for Goodson and White from a much wider foray on cross-examination. And, in the event that Officer Porter withstands their cross with his reputation intact, the prosecutors could then become character witnesses to impugn his veracity (see further below).

To allow Porter to testify, is likely to result in him being unavailable for cross-examination. While the state may give him immunity, the defense cannot. And any new areas that they enquire into are likely to result in Porter declining to answer. No part of any statement Porter has ever given can be used if he is unavailable for cross-examination. Crawford v. Washington, 541 U.S. 36, 124 S.Ct. 1354, 158 L.Ed.2d 177 (2004); State v. Snowden, 385 Md. 64, 867 A.2d 314 (2005).

(e) The cases cited by the State

They do not stand for the proposition that Officer Porter can be compelled to testify

The state principally relies on United States v. Balsys, 524 U.S. 666, 680-682 (1998). There are several points to make about this case. Firstly, even the portions that the state relies on cannot be said to be anything more than dicta. The holding of Balsys was that "[w]e hold that concern with foreign prosecution is beyond the scope of the Self–Incrimination Clause." Id. at 669.

Balsys was an immigration case. Balsys was not given any immunity, and so is dissimilar to the case at bar. And Balsys' purported fear was that he might be prosecuted in "Lithuania, Israel and Germany." Id. at 670. Of course, no prosecution at that time was pending, indeed there was nothing in the record that Lithuania had had any contact with the defendant since his immigration from that country 37 years earlier. The Supreme Court distilled the issue into one sentence: could Balysis "demonstrate that any testimony he might give in the deportation investigation could be used in a criminal proceeding against him brought by the Government of either the United States or one of the States, [then] he would be entitled to invoke the privilege." Here: Officer Porter has demonstrated, conclusively, that there is an ongoing investigation by the United States.

Moreover, Balsys reiterates that "the requirement to provide an immunity as broad as the privilege itself." As stated herein, given that the same prosecutors will take Mr. Porter's testimony not once: but twice - - in the trials of Goodson and White, will then cross-examine Officer Porter again at his retrial, he will not, and cannot be, placed in the same position as if he had never testified. The state gets an advantage, and what Mr. Schatzow learns of Officer Porter's knowledge during the compelled testimony during the trials of Goodson and White cannot be unknown to him on June 13, 2016.

Respectfully, this matter is proceeding in the Circuit Court for Baltimore City, and this Court cannot make such an inferential leap as to what a separate sovereign may decide in the future.

Following Balsys, the state next cites United States v. Cimino, 2014 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 155236 (10/29/14). Firstly, an unreported United States District Court decision from another circuit is scarcely a reason for this Court to make law that flies in the face of 12 score years of Anglo-Maryland jurisprudence. Secondly, the reluctant witness in Cimino was an "agent of the FBI...carrying out the controlled buys orchestrated by the Bureau." Id. at 5. This is a world away from the case at bar. While the Cimino witness may have had a snowball's chance in hell of being prosecuted, no matter what she said, Officer Porter has already been tried once for homicide, with another to follow anon. Lastly, in Cimino:

> However, the immunity arguments pressed on this Court by defendant are of no relevance to the case at bar. The informant has not been immunized by anyone, for anything. She has no agreement that requires any sovereign to forbear from prosecuting her for any crimes she may commit, including crimes committed during the course of her work as an informant

Id. at 11-12. Thus, the portion cited by the state cannot be said to be anything other than unreported, non-binding, dicta.

The third case in the state's trifecta of cases it cited is United States v. Poindexter, 698 F. Supp. 300 (D.D.C. 1988). The primary thrust of the case concerns the steps taken by grand jury members to avoid learning of immunized testimony given at Congress, prior to their returning of an indictment. That is night-and-day from what we have here. The reason Poindexter supports Officer Porter's position, however, is that:

> there must be noted several administrative steps which were taken by Independent Counsel from an early date to prevent exposure of himself and his associate counsel to any immunized testimony. Prosecuting personnel were sealed off from exposure to the immunized testimony itself and publicity concerning it. Daily newspaper clippings and transcripts of testimony before the Select Committees were redacted by nonprosecuting "tainted" personnel to avoid direct and explicit references to immunized testimony. Prosecutors, and those immediately associated with them, were confined to reading these redacted materials. In addition, they were instructed to shut off television or radio broadcasts that even approached discussion of the immunized testimony. A conscientious effort to comply with these instructions was made and they were apparently quite successful. In order to monitor the matter, all inadvertent exposures were to be reported for review of their possible significance by an attorney, Douglass, who played no other role in the prosecution after the immunized testimony started...Overall, the file reflects a scrupulous awareness of the strictures against exposure and a conscientious attempt to avoid even the most remote possibility of any impermissible taint.

Id. at 312-313. It is therefore, readily apparent that the prosecution team in Poindexter went out of their way to avoid learning anything - - let alone anything of consequence - - from the immunized testimony. In the case at bar, however, there is but one prosecution team. The same people that crossed Officer Porter last time will be in the room when he is called as a witness next time, and the time after that and, potentially, a fourth time at his retrial. The state's failing to Chinese wall the different prosecutions means that they cannot now remove the indellible taint.

Even if the cases said what the state believes they say, Officer Porter has a separate right not to testify under the Maryland Declaration of Rights

As stated supra, Article 22 of the Maryland Declaration of Rights is the state parallel to the self-incrimination clause of the Fifth Amendment. Counsel has located no case which holds that Murphy or Balsys' rulings are applicable in Maryland under Article 22 grounds.

The state relies on a footnote for the proposition that "Article 22 of the Maryland Declaration of Rights grants the same privilege against compulsory self-incrimination [as the Fifth Amendment]." In re Criminal Investigation No. 1-162, 307 Md. 674, 683, 516 A.2d 976, 981 (1986). This appears to contradict the actual holding found in the Court of Appeals' later case of Choi v. State, 316 Md. 529, 545, 560 A.2d 1108, 1115-16 (1989). Because while a witness may have:

> waived her Fifth Amendment privilege, she certainly did not waive her privilege against compelled self-incrimination under Art. 22 of the Maryland Declaration of Rights. Long ago, in the leading case of Chesapeake Club v. State, 63 Md. 446, 457 (1885), this Court expressly rejected the waiver rule now prevailing under the Fifth Amendment and adopted the English rule that a witness's testifying about a matter does not preclude invocation of the privilege for other questions relating to the same matter.

Id. This is authority for Officer Porter's contention herein that, while immunity cannot cure his Fifth Amendment concerns, it most certainly cannot protect his Maryland rights.

Maryland retains the dual sovereignty doctrine in its entirety. Evans v. State, 301 Md. 45 (1984) (adopting the dual sovereignty principle as a matter of Maryland common law); see also Gillis v. State, 333 Md. 69, 73, 633 A.2d 888, 890 (1993) (holding that "[u]nder the "dual sovereignty" doctrine, separate sovereigns deriving their power from different sources are each entitled to punish an individual for the same conduct if that conduct violates each sovereignty's laws). Bailey v. State, 303 Md. 650, 660, 496 A.2d 665, 670 (1985) (stating that "[t]his Court has adopted, as a matter of common law, the dual sovereignty doctrine.").

Article 22 of the Maryland Declaration of Rights reads that "That no man ought to be compelled to give evidence against himself in a criminal case." Id. Under Article 22, "[t]he privilege must be accorded a liberal construction in favor of the right that it was intended to secure." Adkins v. State, 316 Md. 1, 8, 557 A.2d 203, 206 (1989).

Massachusetts Declaration of Rights, Article XII states, similarly, that no one can be "compelled to accuse, or furnish evidence against himself." And in Massachusetts "[o]nly a grant of transactional immunity" will suffice. Attorney Gen. v. Colleton, 387 Mass. 790, 801, 444 N.E.2d 915, 921 (1982). Thus, Officer Porter could not be called, were we in Massachusetts, "so long as the witness remains liable to prosecution criminally for any matters or causes in respect of which he shall be examined, or to which his testimony shall relate." Id. at 797.

(e) The state will be making themselves witnesses

The only two (2) persons that have called Officer Porter a liar - - to date - - are Deputy State's Attorney Janice Bledsoe and Chief Deputy Michael Schatzow. As stated, supra, Mr. Schatzow's has told one jury that Porter "lied to you [the jury] about what happened... lied when he spoke to the [investigative] officers and he lied when he spoke on the witness stand;" while Ms. Bledsoe argued "Officer Porter was not telling the truth about his involvement in this incident...the only reasonable conclusion you can come to is that Ofc. Porter is not telling the truth." Id. Coming from two deputies in the States Attorney's Office these comments are that much more significant because:

> Attorneys' representations are trustworthy, the [The Supreme] Court [has] reasoned, because attorneys are officers of the court, and when they address the judge solemnly upon a matter before the court, their declarations are virtually under oath.

Lettley v. State, 358 Md. 26, 47, 746 A.2d 392, 404 (2000) (internal citations omitted).

If Officer Porter is allowed to testify in the Goodson and White trial there are two (2) people, and only two (2) people, that can be called to impugn his credibility, Ms. Bledsoe and Mr. Schatzow. Thus, "[i]n order to attack the credibility of a witness, a character witness may testify...that, in the character witness's opinion, the witness is an untruthful person." Md. Rule 5-608.

This presents all sorts of problems because:

> MLRPC Rule 3.7(a). The policy behind this rule is succinctly stated in the Comment: "Combining the roles of advocate and witness can prejudice the opposing party and can involve a conflict of interest between the lawyer and client." MLRPC Rule 3.7 cmt. With regard to the mixing of roles, the Comment continues:
> The opposing party has proper objection where the combination of roles may prejudice that party's rights in the litigation. A witness is required to testify on the basis of personal knowledge, while an > advocate is expected to explain and comment on evidence given by others. It may not be clear whether a statement by an advocate-witness should be taken as proof or as an analysis of the proof.

Klupt v. Krongard, 126 Md. App. 179, 205-06, 728 A.2d 727, 740 (1999). The advocate-witness rule "assumes heightened importance in a criminal case." Walker v. State, 373 Md. 360, 397 (2003).

VI. CONCLUSION

Two business days from today, the trial of Officer Goodson starts. A few business days after that, absent action from this Court, Officer Porter, despite his protestations, will be required to take an oath and testify. If he does not, he will go to jail. If he does, and he reiterates what he repeated before, the state has already called that perjury, for which Porter has been offered no protection. If he deviates in any way from his earlier testimony then it is perjury, for which Porter remains defenseless.

The actions of the state and the circuit court are without precedent in Maryland law. This Court needs to provide guidance. The bell cannot be unrung, and Porter will be unable to challenge it later. It is imperative that this Court act with alacrity, to give its aegis to one of our rights we hold most dear. This Court should stay the Order to Compel Porter's testimony until such times as the interlocutory appeal is adjudicated.

WHEREFORE, for the foregoing reasons and any others that appear to this Court, Officer Porter prays that the Court stay the Circuit Court's Order that he be compelled to testify in the trial of Officer Goodson.

Re: State v. Goodson, et al.,
Case Nos.: 115141032-37

Dear Judge Williams,

I write as directed concerning the order and anticipated length of trials. The anticipated length of trial does not include the time for hearing and resolving pretrial motions, the time for jury selection, nor the length of the defense cases. Because the State has not yet received discovery from any of the Defendants, the anticipated length of trial also does not include possible additional time in the State's case from meeting anticipated defenses. The State would call the cases in the following order.

- First: William Porter, No. 115141037 Five days
- Second: Caesar Goodson, No. 115141032 Five days
- Third: Alicia White, No. 115141036 Four days
- Fourth: Garrett Miller, No. 115141034 Three days
- Fifth: Edward Nero, No. 115141033 Three days
- Sixth: Brian Rice, No. 115141035 Four days.

Defendant Porter is a necessary and material witness in the cases against Defendants Goodson and White, so it is imperative that Mr. Porter's trial takes place before their trials. Defendant Porter's counsel has known this since before the grand jury returned indictments in these cases. On July 24, 2015, counsel for Defendants Porter and Rice were advised by the State that Porter's case would be called first, either with Defendant Rice or without him, depending on the Court's ruling on the joinder sought by the State. Presumably, counsel for Defendants Porter and Rice so advised counsel for the other defendants. In any event, counsel for all Defendants were notified that the State intended to call the Porter case first during the chambers conference with the court on September 2, 2015.

The trial date of October 13, 2015 was ordered on June 19, 2015, based on the availability of the court and all counsel. As Judge Pierson requested, we had cleared that date with Dr. Carol Allan, the Assistant Medical Examiner who conducted the autopsy. We were advised by Dr. Allan this morning that she will be out of Maryland from November 16 through November 30. The State will be ready to begin the case against Mr. Porter on October 13. Counsel for Mr. Porter has expressed his intent to seek a continuance. The State informed counsel for Mr. Porter over the past weekend that it had no objection to a continuance of Mr. Porter's case of up to three weeks, provided that his remains the first case to be tried. However, given Dr. Allan's schedule, the State now believes that it cannot consent to a continuance beyond October 26. Given that no other Defendant is required to be ready for trial on October 13 (and the State has not received any discovery from any Defendant 30 days before October 13), a two week continuance would not unduly delay the time by which all six cases could be resolved. However, if the consequence of a continuance for Mr. Porter would be forcing the State to try a different Defendant first, then the State would vigorously oppose a continuance for Mr. Porter. Mr. Porter's counsel has been aware of the October 13 trial date for almost three months, and has known with certainty that Mr. Porter's case would be tried first for at least six weeks. In light of the long scheduled and agreed upon trial date, and the other background referenced above, Mr. Porter has no legitimate basis for a continuance, particularly one that would impact the State's traditional right to call cases in the order it chooses.

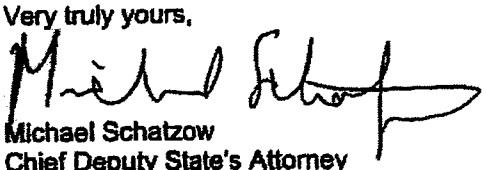
Finally, the Court directed the State to provide an alternative order in the event that Mr. Porter's case is not tried first. Without prejudice to the State's position that, in light of the facts of this case and the information in this letter, it should be able to call the cases in the order expressed above, the State's alternative order would be to try Mr. Miller first, and then, in order, Mr. Porter, Mr. Goodson, Ms. White, Mr. Nero and Mr. Rice. Without listing all the possible permutations, the State essentially seeks to have Mr. Porter tried before Mr. Goodson and Ms. White, to have Mr. Miller tried before Mr. Nero, and to have Mr. Miller and Mr. Nero tried before Mr. Rice.

Thank you for your consideration of these requests. Pursuant to your instructions, I have enclosed the transcript of each defendant's statement. I trust that this letter is clear and responsive to your direction. If you have any questions or think that a chambers conference would be useful, the State is available at the convenience of the Court.

Very truly yours,



Michael Schatzow

WITNESS WILLIAM PORTER'S MOTION FOR INJUNCTION PENDING APPEAL

Comes now Witness Officer William Porter, through his counsel, Joseph Murtha and Gary Proctor and respectfully submits this Motion for Injunction Pending Appeal. In support thereof, Officer Porter states as follows:

1. This Court granted the state's motion to compel Officer Porter's Testimony Pursuant to § 9-123 of the Courts and Judicial Proceedings Article on January 6, 2016.

2. Simultaneously with this pleading, Porter has filed a Notice of Appeal in respect of the Court's ruling. Porter intends to seek an injunction before the Court of Special Appeals (or the Court of Appeals) pursuant to Md. Rules § 8-425. Said rule states that, wherever practical, a party shall seek relief from the circuit court.

3. In order to comply with the rule, Porter hereby moves this Court to stay its ruling that Porter shall testify, pending his interlocutory appeal in this matter. Porter suggests that the harm to his Fifth Amendment and Article 22 rights will be irreparable. As this Court stated on January 6, 2016, there is no appellate law on this issue. Accordingly, this Court should stay its ruling so that Porter may seek such guidance.

WHEREFORE Officer Porter prays this Court grant a stay of its ruling that he be compelled to testify, pursuant to a grant of immunity under § 9-123 of the Courts and Judicial Proceedings Article.

ORDER

On January 6, 2016, during a pre-trial motions hearing for the above-captioned case, the State presented this Court with its written Motion to Compel a Witness to Testify Pursuant to Section 9-123 of the Courts and Judicial Proceedings Article. During this hearing, counsel for the Defendant incorporated their arguments from their Motion to Quash Trial Subpoena of Officer William Porter.

Based on the motions, arguments, and testimony presented during the hearing, this Court finds that Officer William Porter, D.O.B. 6/29/1989, has been called by the State as a witness to testify in the above-captioned case but that Officer Porter has refused to testify on the basis of his privilege against self-incrimination. This Court further finds that the State's Motion to Compel Officer Porter's testimony complies with the requirements of Section 9-123 of the Courts and Judicial Proceedings Article. For these reasons, it is this 6th day of January, 2016, by the Circuit Court for Baltimore City, hereby

ORDERED that the State's Motion to Compel a Witness to Testify Pursuant to Section 9-123 of the Courts and Judicial Proceedings Article is GRANTED, and further

ORDERED that Officer William Porter, D.O.B. 6/26/1989, shall testify as a witness for the State in the above-captioned case and may not refuse to comply with this Order on the basis of his privilege against self-incrimination, and further ORDERED that no testimony of Officer William Porter, D.O.B. 6/26/1989, compelled pursuant to this Order, and no information directly or indirectly derived from the testimony of Officer Porter compelled pursuant to this Order, may be used against Officer Porter in any criminal case, except in a prosecution for perjury, obstruction of justice, or otherwise failing to comply with this Order.
